BASEBALL THE CRACKING OF THE GIANTS

Figures Show Weakness in Mc-Graw's Outfit This Season

.465 New York, Oct. 3 .- The once mighty .460 Blants have faded. The nerve-racking pace of a tight pennant race, in which they hoped to annex their fourth straight National league championship, has had its effect and the old Giant machine has gone to pieces under the strain.

A variety of reasons are advanced .508 for the collapse of the McGraw henchmen. The loss of Herzog and McCormick, who were members of last year's team, the falling down in batting among the regulars, and the failure of Marquard and Demarce to pitch up to their 1913 form, all seem to contribute to the slump of the old champions.

A comparison of the pitching records of 1913 and 1914 shows that Mathewson and Tesreau are the only New York flingers who have been able to duplicate this season their performan-426 ces of last year. Mathewson has not .421 quite equaled his 1913 mark, but Tesreau has surpassed his record of last

Of the three Giants who have bet tered their batting averages this year the greatest climb has been made by Grant, who has advanced from .211 it 1913 to 397 this year, Burns has boost ed his figures from .268 to .202 and Beacher has gone up from 268 to 277

McGraw Will Rebuild. Another apparent weakness in the Glants' game is in the pinch-hitting department. Harry McCormick, managed the Chattanooga team this season, was the pinch-hitter for the Giants last year and closed the seaso with a batting average of .275. This season Mike Donlin, in his day one of the greatest batters in the game, was engaged to fill McCormick's place But Mike has falled to live up to hi reputation as a pinch-hitter, his bat-

ing average being less than .200 The feregoing are the fects and figures in recards to the slump of the Giants. But in some quarters othe causes are advanced for the downfall of the old champions. Some say that the winning of three pennants caused the team to become "chesty." Believing they had a cinch on the flag this year they took things easy and when the time came for them to show the $696,967,261.00--

Before the first guns had thundered forth their message of European strife, America had begun to pay the penalty of fear and uncertainty. In one short week the quotations of 105 leading American secarities had shrunk $696,261.00.

But it was not a shrinkage of American making. It was a result of the desire of European security holders to trade their securities for cash. Cash is a handy thing in war times.

War means ordinarily peaceful merchants shooting guns at normally peaceful farm hands; factory operatives busily engaged in sabering machinists; baker boys galloping madly about on horses which ought to be hauling bread.

Business and War have nothing in common. When war stalks abroad Business goes elsewhere, and Money is the boon companion of business.

When Europe sold back to us millions of dollars of securities it was in an effort to obtain money with which to later purchase from us some of the things Europe must have. Europe is an old customer of ours, but she is expecting to buy now more largely than ever before and her $300,000,000 income from globe trotting Americans will probably be missing this coming year.

Meanwhile, Europe has been compelled to shut up her own shop. There are new faces looking at us across our counters and fingering our goods. Europe used to number them among her customers.

Let's straighten up the counters and dust off the shelves. It looks as if business was going to be brisk and we might as well be ready. And if it is necessary to hire extra help to look after trade, we'd better start looking around for it now.
